

JEWISH FAMILY SERVICE OF SAN DIEGO

The Challenge:

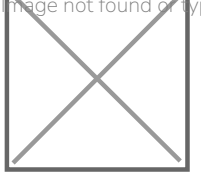

The Jewish Family Service was faced with two challenges:

1. Save money on electricity in order to reduce operating costs and reinvest more money into the community.
2. Become an example of environmental steward-ship.

By moving to solar energy, JFS anticipated redirect-ing the cost savings to extended education and outreach. It would also allow the human services agency to achieve its goal of being an example of environmental stewardship in their community. "As a Jewish agency we are guided by the Jewish value of Tikkun Olam – a concept defined by acts of kindness performed to perfect or repair the world. We
